ABOUT REDBOOK

A History of Eagle County is a compilation written by county school children and their teachers in scrapbook form. Each local community was given a section making eighteen sections total, covering Red Cliff to Basalt. Each article was typed on 8.5 x 11 inch typing paper, then rubber-cemented to a sheet of red construction paper, which was then rubber-cemented to smooth card stock, perhaps shirt cardboard, 10 x 14 inches. Photographs and maps were included and board covers were created. The scrapbook was indexed and a preface was written by County Librarian Alan Clarke, who photocopied the entire volume to make circulating copies. This scrapbook epitomizes interest in the area and preserves original photographs and local history for Eagle County citizens today.

EARLIEST DAYS IN EAGLE (CASTLE) _ PAGE X

EARLIEST DAYS IN EAGLE (CASTLE)

In the early 1880's, the townsite of our present town of Eagle was covered with sagebrush, grass, and small bushes. Wild game of all kinds was in abundance. The upper part of Eagle county was being settled then. Gradually the people began moving down the Eagle River Valley. There was no great rush into the valley as there was apparently no riches. The people came here to farm and live. A few prospectors drifted in, hoping to find gold and silver.

The first person to live on what is now the townsite of Eagle was William Edwards. Mr. Edwards surveyed and laid claim to 156 acres of land on the Eagle River at the mouth of Brush Creek. He proved up on his claim and laid out a townsite which he called Castle. Castle was the name of the post office at the mouth of Brush Creek. The postmaster was Mr. E. N. Hockett.

The first business place of Castle was started by Mr. C. F. Nogal in the spring of 1887. Mr. Nogal started a general merchandise store in a tent in Castle. He built a new store building on the southwest corner of the first block sold by Mr. William Edwards in 1888. Mr. Nogal also built a hotel on the northwest corner of the block in 1891.

The people coming from different places located on ranches on Brush Creek and the Eagle River. They farmed the land and raised horses, cattle and sheep. The people thought a school was necessary for their children so a school district was established and a school board elected. The schoolhouse was not finished until 1890.

Description: "This group of women and their husbands were pioneers of Eagle. From left to right are Cora Mayer, whose husband, William, ran the Mayer Ranch (now the Eagle Ranch subdivision); Rosetta Nogal (wife of Charley); Alice Bacon (a local historian); Mrs. Hockett; and Caroline Thoborg. Women's organizations such as the Eagle Garden Club were instrumental in community improvement projects." Early Eagle, by Kathy Heicher p.101

James Surls

James Surls (born April 19, 1943) is an American modernist artist. He earned a BS from Sam Houston State University and an MFA from the Cranbrook Academy of Art. In 1998, he moved from Splendora, Texas to Carbondale, Colorado.

He is known for his largely monotone sculptures, drawings and prints that feature natural and human images and forms. Surls' work is particularly organic and primal. Surls is a collectible artist and is respected in modern art circles. Having built a career in the 1980s and 1990s as a Texas artist, Surls relocated to a Colorado ranch and removed his work from for-profit galleries. His work is now represented exclusively by his own studio.

In 2009, five Surls bronze-and-steel bouquets were set up on Park Avenue by the New York City Parks Public Art Program and the fund for Park Avenue.
